Participles

Types

1. Present Participle
2. Past Participle

# Present Participle
Present participle

The running boy is my brother.

- Here running is come alone without any helping verb, so from this we got to know that 'running' is not a part of tense.
- If we use only 'run' instead of 'running' it doesn't make any sense
- So when $v_1 + \text{ing}$ comes alone, without them sentence doesn't make any sense is known as participle.
- If it in the present tense (is, are is used), then the participle is known as Present Participle.
- Here participle is act as an adjective.

Past Participle

- Used for all perfect tense forms of a verb and in the passive voice.

Example: He hid the money in his recently gotten shirt.

Here gotten is past participle because:

- It acts as adjective because it adds the quality or describes about noun. (Here noun is shirt)
- No helping verb is used with 'gotten' so it cannot be a part of tense.
- It is third form of verb.

Example: He took the gun. He shot the tiger.

Having taken the gun, he shot the tiger. [Active Voice]

Here past participle is used with having

So in the active voice past participle can come as having + $v_3$
Having been taken the gun, he shot the tiger. [Passive Voice]

[He: Subject of Reference]
